

Randy Browning ~ Bio

Randy Browning is a modern folk musician, playing and writing a variety of acoustic music on guitar, slide guitar and old-time banjo. His music blends folk, blues, ragtime, and contemporary songwriting.

His unique, literate songs and engaging performance style were honored with the 'New Folk' award at the 34th annual Kerrville Folk Festival.

"Radical Rags" is his first solo recording, a mix of originals and folk songs connected by progressive social change.

Randy performs throughout the Northeast, both solo and with his partner Brett Kinney, in the duo "Late Bloomers".

He's been an active music educator for over a decade, teaching small classes, workshops, and private lessons. He lives in Southern Maine.

"Refreshing and original, Browning has released one of the finest acoustic offerings of the year. " [Doug's Top 5]
Doug Sloan - Metronome Magazine

"Masterful, understated... brilliant."
Andy Howard - Spotlight

"Literate, thoughtful... story songs that reveal insights while being engaging and entertaining."
Fred Kraus – Minor 7th

Posters, photos, and full reviews available at: www.latebloomersmusic.com